

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

So-called quantum tunneling varistors are made with a matrix of particles having a nonconductive coating that is deposited on core conductive particles using 5 atomic layer deposition methods. The resulting coated particles have highly uniform, adherent coatings that allow easier production of good quality quantum tunneling varistor devices.

10

15